Message from the CEO.

"Technology should simplify business, not complicate it. Our mission is to build intelligent platforms that help organisations make better decisions, work more efficiently and grow with confidence. Every product we develop is designed with long-term value, scalability and trust at its core."

Muzzammil Sarwar

"Clean code, smart architecture and AI that delivers real business value."

As CTO and senior developer, Muzzammil leads engineering across Tech Style Ltd — setting technical direction, owning architecture decisions and mentoring the development team while staying hands-on with the code.

He builds scalable applications and intelligent, AI-powered solutions across the MEAN stack, Next.js and FastAPI, combining full-stack engineering with Python and machine learning to turn ideas into robust, production-ready platforms.
